

TL; DR

- Software engineer with a background in nonprofit management and public policy.
- Passionate about making the world a better place through well-designed code.
- Coding philosophy: to build infrastructure that makes life easier for stakeholders.

Skills

- Programming Languages: Ruby/Rails, PHP/WordPress, HTML, CSS
- Software Dev Tools: RubyMine, PhpStorm, Sublime Text
- Databases: MySQL, PostgreSQL, MS Access, FileMaker
- Operating Systems: MS Windows, OS X
- Soft Skills: Facilitation, Training, Troubleshooting

Timeline

The Iron Yard Back End Engineering Student September 2015 – December 2015
12-week intensive training course on Ruby on Rails development in team-based environments.

C4 Atlanta Deputy Director / Co-Founder July 2010 – September 2015
Non-profit organization with a mission to connect arts entrepreneurs to the people, skills and tools they need to build a successful artistic career in metro Atlanta. Designed and implemented the organization's website (PHP / WordPress) and membership and donor database (FileMaker).

Atlanta Coalition of Performing Arts IT Manager June 2005 – April 2010
Non-profit arts service organization serving greater Atlanta's performing arts community. Managed the design and implementation of three websites, including an online show calendar and an actor database (PHP / Proprietary CMS). Implemented feature enhancements and bug fixes over the following two years.

Civic Strategies Project Manager May 2006 – August 2007
Public policy consulting agency. Managed the design and implementation of project-related websites (PHP). Conducted statistical analysis of racial demographics and voting patterns of City of Atlanta council districts (MS Excel).

Georgia State University Dual Degree Baccalaureate Student January 2000 – June 2006

- Bachelor of Science, Urban Policy Studies, Concentration in Planning and Economic Development
- Bachelor of Business Administration, Management

Lotus Development Corp (IBM) Customer Support August 1996 – November 2000
Hired as intern, supporting users of Lotus 1-2-3. Hired full-time in 1997 as second-tier support for multiple desktop software products. Advanced to third-tier support for Lotus Approach database software in 1998.